December 2017

Dear HES Families,

We are already 3/4 through our first semester here at Harlem Elementary and 2017 is coming to a close. Although the year is going by quickly, we have seen a lot of growth in the students and are looking forward to watching them grow and learn even more this year. I am grateful for the knowledge, time, and love that our staff, parents, and community continue to give to our students.

We have a lot of fun and informative activities coming up in December. Parent/Teacher Conferences will take place on December 4th and I encourage everyone to attend. While you're here please stop by the library and visit our annual book fair. Our winter showcase will be a holiday theme this year and all are invited to attend on December 20th from 4:00-6:00. We hope you'll head over to the high school afterward and enjoy the Jr/Sr High band concert. Finally, before enjoying the Christmas break, your kiddos will entertain you at Mrs. Brown's annual Christmas Concert on the 21st.

Sincerely,

Shiloh Seymour

Principal
Harlem Elementary School

Silent Auction

The Harlem Education Association will be hosting a silent auction featuring a variety of gift baskets of all shapes and sizes. They will be on display and available for bids during Parent/Teacher Conferences, the Winter Showcase, and make rounds at the Harlem Senior Center and Bank of Harlem. Proceeds go toward scholarships for Harlem students.

This month we will be working on keeping our hands, feet, and objects to ourselves. The first R in our R.O.A.R. stands for respect. Showing respect includes understanding the physical boundaries of our friends and classmates. It also means knowing the appropriate time and place for certain activities. For example, students should throw balls outside at recess or in PE, but not anywhere else in the school. Tackling, hitting, kicking, pinching and other kinds of negative contact are never o.k.

Students will have the opportunity to shop our Scholastic book fair with their class from December 4 –6. Parents can browse with their kids during Parent Teacher Conferences on December 4th from 4:00–7:00.
